Tech’s Trophy Games

The Commonwealth Cup

The battle for the Commonwealth Cup — the annual gridiron clash between Virginia Tech and the University of Virginia — is as old as the recently-created award is young. The Cup, now residing in Blacksburg after Tech’s 31-7 win over the Cavaliers in Charlottesville last year, was created in 1996 by the universities to remain in the possession of the winner of the in-state rivalry each year. The first game in the series was played in 1895, 104 years ago.

The Commonwealth Cup, made of marble and cherry wood, is four feet high and weighs more than 100 pounds. The top of the Cup is silver-plated with the names of the two schools. The scores of all 81 games in the Tech-Virginia rivalry are engraved on the side. A map of the Commonwealth of Virginia with Blacksburg and Charlottesville marked with stars has been etched on the front of the trophy, which was produced by Jostens.

Virginia Tech gained possession of the Cup first by defeating arch-rival Virginia, 26-9, in the annual battle between the teams at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field in 1996. The Cavaliers won it back in ’97 with a 34-20 victory in Charlottesville and retained it in 1998 with a 36-32 win, before turning it back over to the Hokies following Tech’s win last season.

The Hokies hold a 40-36-5 edge in the series with the Cavaliers. Virginia will visit Lane Stadium/Worsham Field on Nov. 25 this fall for the 82nd clash in this ever-intensifying rivalry.

The Black Diamond Trophy

Virginia Tech also began competing for another prize in 1997 when fellow BIG EAST Conference member West Virginia and the Hokies inaugurated the Black Diamond Trophy to commemorate that series.

The name “Black Diamond” refers to the region’s history with the coal industry. The trophy is sponsored by Rish Equipment Company, which will provide funding for athletic scholarships at both Tech and West Virginia during the next five years.

Tech currently has possession of the trophy thanks to a thrilling last-second 22-20 win over the Mountaineers in Morgantown last season that kept the Hokies’ undefeated regular season alive. Tech trails in the series with WVU, 18-26-1, and will defend its hold on the trophy this season, Oct. 12, at Lane Stadium/Worsham Field.
